PUSHING PLANS FOR A SUPER-HIGHWAY; BOSTON TO CAPITAL

Conference of Those Interested Held in New York
On Thursday

BUCKS CO. IS INCLUDED

Short Stretch Already Being Completed Near Janney
Station

Plans are being pushed for a super-highway from Boston to Washington, and including that portion of a super-highway already constructed in Bucks county.

A conference of those interested was held in New York on Thursday and Pennsylvania's representatives agreed that a bridge at Yardley would be the most desirable point of contact between the States of New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The joint New Jersey-Pennsylvania Tool Bridge Commission several years ago purchased the bridge at Yardley, a light steel structure not suited for heavy traffic. The two states have for some time considered the construction of a bridge there. Meanwhile both have been building super-highways toward the Delaware River.

New Jersey's road is several miles east of Trenton and Pennsylvania is finishing the construction of 2.66 miles of four-lane-type concrete road from the Roosevelt Boulevard at City Line and Bucks County to Janney Station, where it intersects the present Lincoln Highway. Bridges in this stretch also have been completed.

A four-lane, high-speed highway from Boston to Washington, serving but not entering big cities, began to take definite form yesterday when a committee of highway officials inspected that part of the route lying between New York and Trenton.

The highway, which will connect with others, will eventually provide the military road of the future from Florida to Maine. It will be built for forty-mile-an-hour traffic.

The plan is being pushed as an NRA project. The total cost will be $500,000,000, part to be borne by the National Government and part by the States. The money will not, however, come out of the $400,000,000 road fund of the National Government, but will require the setting up of a new fund. According to all reports, the NRA administrators appear enthusiastic and while the plans are still in the formative stage, the success of the project seems assured.

Roughly, it would follow Route No. 1, which would have to be improved. By-passes around large cities, elimination of existing bottle-necks and narrow bridges and abolition of grade crossings are called for in the plans.

MOON FUNERAL TO BE HELD ON MONDAY

Prominent Nurseryman Dies in Hospital After a Brief Illness

ACTIVE IN COMMUNITY

MORRISVILLE, Sept. 2.—Funeral services for the late Henry T. Moon, prominent nurseryman, treasurer and manager of the William H. Moon Company, Yardley Road, will be held from his late home, "Glenwood," Monday afternoon at two o'clock. Mr. Moon died yesterday after a brief illness in the McKinley Hospital, Trenton, N. J. The funeral services will be conducted under supervision of the Friends and interment will be in the Friends Burying Grounds, Fallsington.

Mr. Moon, who was 53 years old, was the oldest son of William H. and Ellen M. Moon, the former for many years head of the long established and well-known company. Mr. Moon's life had been spent in the development and operation of the nursery business and the advancement of nurserymen's interests. Some of his local outside interests were his work with the Morrisville Building and Loan Association, the local Historical Society, his Friends' Meeting at Fallsington, and the Fallsington Public Library, and the Makefield Community House Association at Woodside. He was a member of the representative committee or permanent board of the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting. The success of the 250th celebration of the Establishment of Friends' Meetings in Bucks County at Fallsington, last May, was in a great measure due to his inspiration.

Last Saturday a week ago he helped conduct a tree pilgrimage to visit the historical trees about Trenton and in Bucks County. His genial and bright outlook on life was, as a friend has expressed it, "very closely allied to his love for the old substantial things and to his knowledge and love of the handiwork of God through nature."

He is survived by his wife, Julia H. Moon; three sons, Howard H. William H. and Henry T. Moon, Jr.; also two sisters, Edith C. Moon and Maria M. Albertson, and his sister-in-law, Mary B. Moon, widow of J. Edward Moon.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS IN NEWTOWN, DOYLESTOWN AND NEW HOPE WILL OPEN DURING THE COMING WEEK; EXPECT LARGE ENROLLMENTS BECAUSE OF NRA

First Day To Be Devoted To Registration and Assignment of Pupils to Their Various Classes — Adequate Room is Problem of Most of the School Boards

Schools throughout Bucks County are ready to open next week. Some will begin the term on Tuesday while others will open later during the week.

The Newtown school will open for the 1933-34 term on Tuesday, September 5. Pupils will attend only one session on the first day for enrollment and assignment of books, supplies and classes.

Regular classes will begin on Wednesday. It is important that all pupils report on Tuesday in order that their schedules may be arranged.

Pupils entering the ninth grade from the township districts should meet with Principal Willard S. Shuster tomorrow for discussion of their choice of courses.

All children becoming six years of age before January 2, may enter first grade within the first two weeks of school. Children becoming six years of age between January 2 and June 15 may be admitted on January 2. All beginning children must have a birth certificate and vaccination certificate in order to be properly enrolled. Parents will save their children considerable confusion by having these matters attended to before the opening of school.

The Doylestown schools will re-open Wednesday morning, Sept. 6.

All beginners who registered Friday morning, Sept. 1, will report to Grade 1, Mrs. Long and Miss Davies, teachers. All those who have names are not in the list or who have registered before the school opens will report first to the office for placement. All errors, if any, will be corrected on the opening day of school.

The exact enrollment will not be known until the actual opening of the school. Taking into consideration the eligible beginners, the enrollment is now 1077, of which 547 are in the high school. The registration of non-residents and new residents of Doylestown on Thursday will, undoubtedly swell the high school enrollment to figures somewhat larger than last year.

The operation of NRA will, no doubt, bring some additional pupils back to school since the employment of children under sixteen years of age is now prohibited. Therefore, the serious problem that faces the local schools is how to take care of the continuously increasing number of high school students.

The opening date for the New Hope Elementary and High Schools has been set for Wednesday, September 6, when regular classes will be started.

A preliminary meeting of all teachers has been arranged for Tuesday, September 5, at 2:30 in the high school building. At this time Principal Gottlieb will outline his plans for the coming year.

All necessary repairs in all rooms have been completed; textbooks and supplies have been distributed and everything is in readiness for next year.

NOTED ITALIAN AIRMAN DIES OF BURNS IN PLANE

General Francisco De Pinedo
Loses Control and Crashes
At Bennett Airport

HOPED TO BEAT RECORD

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(INS)—Trapped in the blazing wreckage of the plane in which he hoped to set a new non-stop distance flying record, General Francisco De Pinedo, noted Italian airman, was burned to death today when he lost control of the ship and crashed as he took off from Floyd Bennett airport.

De Pinedo, hoping to shatter the distance record hung up recently by French fliers, Maurice Rosset and Paul Codos, took his heavily loaded ship down the airport runway at top speed. Halfway down the concrete stretch he lost control of the big Bellanca monoplane.

It rose a few feet in the air, wobbled sharply, and bounced down to the runway again.

As De Pinedo fought to keep it on the concrete path, the big ship shot off to one side, crashed through a guard fence into a parked automobile and burst into flames.

The noted airman struggled to escape from the flame-wrapped wreckage.

Airport attendants who dashed to aid him saw him lift his arms, shielding his face, as he struggled to free himself from the pilot's seat.

Finally, he managed to half pull himself, half fall, over the side of the fuselage.

His clothing ablaze, he dropped beside the wrecked plane and was wrapped in a fierce wave of fire from the shattered gas tanks.

Spectators, police and airport attaches stood by in helpless agony, prevented by the intense heat from approaching near enough to aid the victim.

The faculty will be as follows: Supervising principal, Theodore Gottlieb; commercial subjects, Mabel V. Frantz; English and history, Mary E. Mytton; Latin, French, algebra, Mary G. Rule; science and mathematics, Willard S. Campbell.

Elementary school: grade one, Edith R. Higgins; grade two, Mildred Rosner; grades three and four, Mrs. Hillborne Dean; grades four and five, Leadora Funk; grades six, seven, and eight, Mrs. Mary M. Mack; grades six, seven and eight, Mary T. McDonnell.

The Board of Education submits the following financial statement for the year: Receipts: Balance, 1932, $44.88; loans, $1500; sale of property, $725.16; taxes, $13,532.83; appropriations, $5,510.41; tuition, $7033.64; other sources $1549.43; total $29,891.41.

Expenses: General control, $737.60; instruction, $16,783.17; auxiliary agencies, $41.95; operation, -2385.30; maintenance, $429.12; fixed charge, $650.67; debt service, $7757.50; capital outlay, $194.05; balance, $917.05; total, $29,896.41. Balance sinking fund, $3125.

"DANNY" HINES UPSETS LOWER BUCKS DOPE

Pitches Hibernians to 5 to 2
Victory Over Hulmeville

SPECTACULAR PITCHING

HULMEVILLE, Sept. 2.—"Danny" Hines, Hibernian ace-in-the-hole hurler, upset the dope in the Lower Bucks County League championship series here last night by pitching the Hibernians to a 5-2 triumph over the Hulmeville A. A., winners of the second half. It was the Hibs' first victory in five game series, Hulmeville having won the first two frays.

Hines, who played the outfield in the previous games, stepped to the hill last night and gave a brilliant exhibition of hurling. He set down the Hulmeville club with four hits and had them blanked until the last inning. Rado's error started Hulmeville off to a rally which netted two runs.

Danny's control was so good that he did not issue a pass and the Hulmeville batters looked weak all evening. The team-mates of Hines were guilty of four errors but the Hibs' twirler was cool under fire and kept handing goose-eggs. Only Rado's miscue proved disastrous as it scored a run and put another in a position to score. In his last appearance, Hines moved from the outfield to plunk the Hulmeville team after they had won twelve straight contests.

"Ike" Watson, southpaw peakman of the Hulmeville team, suffered the defeat. Watson was also effective. But after his mates threw away several balls in the fifth he was found for two runs. For the first four innings the Hibernians were shut-out, Dougherty being the only batter to reach base to remain there. Williams had singled in the third but was mopped up in a double-play.

Five of the Hibs' eight hits came in the last two frames when they pushed across three earned tallies. The winners outthrew the losers, eight to four.

The Bristol club was first to score, counting two runs in the fourth on errors by Leigh and Comly, a sacrifice by McGinley, and a pass to Thompson.

The visitors made it 3-0 by adding another in the sixth. Williams singled and stole second. He counted on Foster's double to center.

Roe's single accounted for the final two runs. Hines opened with a hit. Dugan followed with another safety. Both advanced when Dougherty was thrown out by Comly. Roe singled to right scoring the base runners. Roe went out trying for second after falling on the way. McGinley fled out to center.

The locals' only tallies came in the eighth. Black was thrown out by Hines. Mende reached first on Dougherty's error.

"Heroes for Sale," Daring Timely Topic at Grand

A daring screen record of these hectic times gives Richard Barthelmess the material for his latest First National production, "Heroes for Sale," which opens Monday at the Grand Theatre.

The story, which was written by the late Wilson Mizner, mines no words or situations in portraying the career of a "forgotten man." The action commences with the World War in which the main character played by Richard Barthelmess, is rewarded for his bravery with wounds that leave him a wreck of his former self. His efforts to rehabilitate himself lead him into many adventures and into a stirring romance until he is caught in the tide of the "breadline" class.

Considered one of Barthelmess' finest characterizations to date, "Heroes for Sale" also boasts a cast of highly competent supporting players, each of whom is given a chance for splendid work. Loretta Young plays the leading feminine role, while Aline MacMahon, Gordon Westcott, Robert Barrat and Berton Churchill play other important roles.

The Warner Bros.-First National trend of following front page headlines for story material is quite evident in this film. The stark realism of the life and struggles and romance of a veteran, from the time of the World War to the present day is the basis of this production.

William A. Wellman, who was responsible for many screen successes noted for their realism, handled the direction.

TIGHT BERNHARDT SLEEVE RETURNS FOR FALL DRESS STYLE

In Some Instances the Long Sleeve Covers Most of The Hand

By Alice Langelier
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS—(INS)—Sarah Bernhardt has returned to Paris this fall by way of the sleeve that made her famous. Long and tight, often covering most of the hand, it has come into the fashion picture again.

Sparkling steel buttons and studded belts are another one of the high lights seen on sober, beautifully-cut daytime dresses for winter wear. Gold and silver square collars make another.

Striped or bright silk and metal thread vests are also worn with dark daytime dresses.

Patch pockets now describe a circle.

HOLLYWOOD. . . . .—When and if Eleanor Holm marries Arthur Jarrett, the pair will honey-moon against time, for the pretty swimming champ announces that she'll soon be leaving for the East for more personal appearances.

You can hear plenty of rumors that Eleanor and singing star Jarrett have changed their minds since they filed application to wed on August 22, but the bride-to-be smilingly denies it. She says that Jarrett's picture work with Joan Crawford is holding up the ceremony. There's another picture at Columbia in the offing, and now Jarrett has signed up to return to the Coconut Grove.

Orange blossoms or not, Eleanor looks swell. Her recent training in the East took off 10 pounds. She's now a trim 107.

For naive alibis, they are awarding the palm to the movie executive who took a dancing girl to lunch the other noon. The girl was in make-up and wore slacks, so they drove in his car to a sandwich stand near the studio.

Unfortunately, his wife happened to see them pass by. She was waiting for the executive when he returned to his office.

"Who was that woman in your car?" she demanded.

"Oh, that girl," stammered the exec. "Why, she was just a hick-hiker."

Latest report is that Marlene Dietrich will return from Europe minus not only her masculine clothes but her daughter, Maria, as well. The star is said to be considering putting the child in school in Europe, just as Gloria Swanson has done with her two youngsters.

Is this irony? Jack Miller, who served five years in a Georgia chain gang and who recently has played parts in "I Am a Fugitive" and in Mae West's picture, "I'm No Angel," is leaving Hollywood for Florida, where he'll become credit manager in a modish shop.

FAST ONES.

Carole Lombard has found that small home she was looking for. It's a new Orleans style colonial house with four bedrooms and three baths. Carole will share the place with her mother. . . . You have to sympathize with Margaret Sullivan. Fourteen weeks in Hollywood, she's had one afternoon off from work and on that afternoon she strolled into the brush in Laurel Canyon. She spent four hours in the hoosegow. . . . Adrienne Ames is up from a light case of flu and she and Bruce Cabot were dancing at the Miramar the other evening. . . . Boots Mallory and Dick Powell (there's a new combination) at the same place. You'll see the famous Coconut Grove in Jean Harlow's picture, "Bombshell." The troupe moved in lights, sound equipment and all—and shot scenes for an entire day.

Adolph Menjou dines tete-a-tete with a pretty blonde at the Club Seville. . . . Jerry Asher, M-G-M publicity man and a close friend of Joan Crawford, has been appointed western representative of the fan magazine, Movie Mirror.

Who said Virginia Cherrill and Cary Grant were tired? He went to San Francisco to see her off for London. . . . The "Dancing Lady" troupe at M-G-M had to shoot around Clark Gable again. He was at the studio but was so weak that he had to return home.

DID YOU KNOW—That Marie Dressler once thrilled New York of the "Gay Nineties" by riding a bike around the city reserving with Lillian Russell?

Three-fourths of the round of cloth are sewn to the hip region of a skirt, while the rest falls forward as a curving flap.

The white algerette is used now to encircle the armhole on fine materials like white satin or velours. It is the only trim on a simple model.

High lights at Vera Borea's include leather helmet-hats and gloves, stocks and scarves that fold high around the neck in 1890 dandy fashions, hook and ball fasteners and old-fashioned snaps.

Dainty fur waistcoats will feel snug and cosy under winter coats and jackets. Seal is the favorite fur for them.

The last novelty for the 1933 summer beach-girl is a tiny vanity-case, one inch square, which looks like a brooch and clips on to the bathing-suit.

Inside is a practical mirror and an appreciable amount of powder. The clip-on earring is also seen on many brown bathers this summer. They are not really rings, but studs, fashioned in all colors to match the costume.

GRAIN EXPORT RECORD

VANCOUVER, B. C.—(INS)—The grain season of 1932-33 for the Port of Vancouver officially closed at midnight July 31 after having created a new all-time record for the port. From August 1, 1932 to July 31, 1933, 97,000,000 bushels of grain were handled for export through the port, exceeding by about 1,500,000 bushels the best previous record, which was 1928-29.

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo.—(INS)—Robins like their insects boiled. They have been observed flocking by the hundreds to the terraces below Mammoth Hot Springs, where millions of insects are trapped, killed, cooked and served up on the colorful trays formed by limestone deposits.

Dougherty and Williams with two hits each led the winning team with the stick while "Vic" Rockhill with a double and single led the losing team.

The fourth game of the series will be played on St. Ann's field on Tuesday night.

First baseman Warren Bruce of the Hulmeville club was injured in the eighth inning and may be lost for the remainder of the season. It is believed Bruce fractured his knee.

Miss Mary Piercey Is Speaker at Garden Meeting

The final meeting of the season of the Garden Section of the Bristol Travel Club was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Thomas Hawkes, Edgely. Mrs. Earl Tomb opened the meeting with an appropriate poem, and called the roll, with each person answering with the name of a favorite tree and brief comments on its tradition and history.

Mrs. Horace Burton reported on the second tree pilgrimage held recently by the Bucks County Natural Science Association, led by the late Henry Moon.

Speaking of a fine old tree on the Taylor farm, the delegation of women suggested asking the owner to donate an acre of ground surrounding this tree, the estimated age of which is 430 years, the oldest and largest tree in Bucks County, so that it can be preserved and appropriately commemorated.

A paper was read on the history of the Buttonwood tree on the Patton farm, by Mrs. George Boswell.

The Civic Club of Philadelphia urges that all Penn trees be appropriately marked with bronze markers and it is hoped the two Bristol trees will be so marked. One is in the Friends' Graveyard and the other in the Episcopal Graveyard.

Mrs. Frank Lehman read a paper on the origin of names of plants.

Mrs. Theodore Megargee read three poems, one, "The Faithless Flower," by Mary Weidemer, "America for Me," by Henry VanDyke, and "An Italian Garden."

Following this the speaker for the afternoon, Miss Mary Piercey, graduate of the Ambler School of Horticulture, gave a talk on "How to Revamp the Garden in September."

"The word 'depression,'" said Miss Piercey, "is out of date, but we still have our Wall Street and stocks and bonds, and we can have these in our gardens because the 'Wall Street' can be our garden paths, our 'bonds' can be the bulbs and our 'stocks' can be our investments in new plants that have not been tried out, and our 'margin' can be the beautiful borders of our gardens."

Continuing, the speaker asserted that each investment put into a garden would most certainly grow to maturity.

She followed this with advice and comments on house plants, how to care for them and of watering gardens and transplanting in the fall, and also tree planting and pruning.

Her final comment was "do not become a drudge. Take time to enjoy the Autumn in the garden with all its glorious colors and tints, and in the Winter dream things out about your gardens. Do not be discouraged with failures, but dream of the perfect garden for next year."

SPORT SHOTS by Maxwell Gordon

WE WERE having a fanning bee with Arthur Brady the other day on Mill street when "Doc" Potts ambled by. . . Mr. Brady looked at the old chap as he slowly wended his way along the sidewalk and remarked with a kindly nod: . . . "There goes one of Bristol's best ball players in his day."

"He was always doing the unexpected," continued Mr. Brady. . . "When you went to a ball game that 'Doc' was playing in, you were always sure of a thrill. . . The greatest kick I ever got watching Potts was a good many years ago in a game between Bristol and the Schuylkill Navy."

"Potts, as you know, was the catcher for the locals and one of the best. . . but he was also a great hitter and could always be depended upon to break up a game with his slugging. . . Well in this game with the Schuylkill outfit 'Doc' came to bat with the Bristol team trailing 3-2, a runner on base and two out. . . a regular Frank Merriwell set-up."

"Now the visitors, who were one of the strongest baseball aggregations out of Philadelphia, had a Pennsylvania University battery who were red hot working for them this day. . . So while Potts waited at the plate the catcher walked out to the pitcher and had a conference as to what kind of ball to feed the Doctor.

"Finally when they had reached a decision the pitcher let one go and Mr. Potts took a healthy swing and lined the ball low over the infield. . . With a gradual rise the ball sailed higher and finally went over the fence for a home-run with 'Doc' scoring the winning run. . . "What a thrill I got! . . I don't think I will experience another just like it," said Mr. Brady, with regret in his voice.

WILD GAME RESPOND

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo.—(INS)—Any question as to the possibility of seeing wild game in the fishing bridge region of Yellowstone Park was settled recently when a black bear walked into the museum there to inspect it; a moose ambled nonchalantly into the museum amphitheatre, and a tour over a radius of three miles around the museum revealed several hundred elk grazing within the circle.

TIRED BURGLARS

DENVER—(INS)—Burglars who recently raided the Denver home of William McLeod Raine, noted western author, must have been very tired. Raine reported to police that during his absence from the city someone entered his house through a back window and took clothing an undetermined amount of money. They also slept in his bed before leaving.

INDIANS MORE STABLE

GALLUP, N. M.—(INS)—The American Indian's childlike belief in the mystic and his freedom from the more complicated inhibitions of civilized people makes him less susceptible to insanity than white people. This is the theory on which William Morgan, Ph. D., formerly of the anthropology department of Yale University, began a series of studies among the Navajo Indians of the Southwest.

New Wizard of the Courts

By BURNLEY

Jack CRAWFORD

IF HE WINS THE U.S. NET CROWN AT FOREST HILLS HE WILL TAKE UNDISPUTED RANK AS THE WORLD'S GREATEST PLAYER!

JACK IS A GREAT STRATEGIST WITH A FINE FOREHAND!

© 1933, King Features Syndicate, Inc. Great Britain rights reserved

ALL this year the tennis horizon has been clouded by rumors and reports and admissions and denials of, for, and against professionalism. Probably no other tennis classic in the history of the game is starting under such tenseness as the United States Singles Championships, which commence the end of this week at Forest Hills.

And if the tennis skies have never had such an abundance of clouds as this year, they also have never had such a meteor as Jack Crawford of Australia.

Crawford was figured by the experts as a fine player and a coming star, but few thought that he would break into the high tennis ranks with the disastrous effects that have accompanied his raid into the higher realm of the net game this year.

And, just before the National Singles, it is no exaggeration to state that Crawford stands out as the most likely winner. Of course there is the old question of how well he will be able to overcome the handicap of playing on foreign soil, but, judging from his ability to thrust that hazard aside in past performances, it shouldn't bother him much.

Should Crawford actually come through and annex the title, he will be the undisputed world's tennis champion, for he has defeated every player of note in his great career. Crawford overwhelmed Vines at Wimbledon, while Perry and Austin, the Davis Cup winners, fell before him in the European Zone matches of the Cup tournament. His record for 1933 is one of clean victories.

Just what is at stake in the tournament in a professional way is hard to say, but it is easy to conjecture on the basis of recent reports. It is said that Vines, Cochet, Crawford and Perry all consider making a shift into the professional ranks. If that's true, then the National Singles will be the big arena for the boys in establishing their professional worth.

Vines, in that case, will be facing a crucial test. If he wins, he will have practically wiped out the onus of his many defeats of the year. If he loses, he will have a heavy string of losses on his head. A victory by Crawford would make him top man in any outfit.
